UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA RECORD RETENTION SCHEDULES

DISCLAIMER

This document is accurate as of its last update. Please refer to GS2 for police department records, GS7 for records from P.K. Yonge, and GS15 for library records if you cannot find a retention schedule already listed in this document. The unabridged schedules are located on the State of Florida’s website.

Backups: Electronic or Digital Records

There is no retention schedule for backup tapes, disks, drives, servers or other forms of electronic/digital data backup. A backup should be just that, a data/records backup kept solely for disaster recovery/business continuity but not intended to serve as the record copy or as a records retention tool. In the case of disaster, the backup would be used to recover system operability and/or restore lost records; otherwise, agency records that have not met their retention should not be disposed of on the basis of the existence of a backup. If for any reason (for instance, a disaster erases emails on your server) the only existing copy of an item that has not met its retention period is on a backup tape or drive, the custodial agency of that record must ensure that the record on the backup is maintained for the appropriate retention period. A backup containing record copies/only existing copies of items that have not passed their retention would have to be retained for the length of the longest unmet retention period. Preferably, the records should be restored to the agency’s systems from the backup to ensure that the backup is not used as a records retention tool. (Schedule GS1-SL, page 5)

Electronic Communications

There is no single retention period that applies to all electronic messages or communications, whether they are sent by email, instant messaging, text messaging (such as SMS, Blackberry PIN, etc.), multimedia messaging (such as MMS), chat messaging, social networking (such as Facebook, Twitter, etc.), voice mail/voice messaging (whether in audio, voiceover- internet protocol, or other format), or any other current or future electronic messaging technology or device. Retention periods are determined by the content, nature, and purpose of records, and are set based on their legal, fiscal, administrative, and historical values, regardless of the format in which they reside or the method by which they are transmitted. Electronic communications, as with records in other formats, can have a variety of purposes and relate to a variety of program functions and activities. The retention of any particular electronic message will generally be the same as the retention for records in any other format that document the same program function or activity. For instance, electronic communications might fall under a CORRESPONDENCE series, a BUDGET RECORDS series, or one of numerous other series, depending on the content, nature, and purpose of each message. Electronic communications that are created primarily to communicate information of short term value, such as messages reminding employees about scheduled meetings or appointments, or most voice mail messages, might fall under the “TRANSITORY MESSAGES” series. (Schedule GS1-SL, page 13)
Electronic Records
Records retention schedules apply to records regardless of the format in which they reside. Therefore, records created or maintained in electronic format must be retained in accordance with the minimum retention requirements presented in these schedules. Printouts of standard correspondence are acceptable in place of the electronic files. Printouts of electronic communications (email, instant messaging, text messaging, multimedia messaging, chat messaging, social networking, or any other current or future electronic messaging technology or device) are acceptable in place of the electronic files, provided that the printed version contains all date/time stamps and routing information. However, in the event that an agency is involved in or can reasonably anticipate, litigation on a particular issue, the agency must maintain in native format any and all related and legally discoverable electronic files. (Schedule GS1-SL, page vii)

For more information on maintaining electronic records, please see “Electronic Recordkeeping” (F.A.C. 1B-26.003).
